And section 196, reads thus: "Should the auditor knowingly issue any warrant upon the treasurer, not authorized; by law, or should he wilifully neglect or refuse to perform any duty enjoined by law, or be guilty of any oppression or extortion, or receive any fee or reward for the performance of any duty not allowed by law, or should he, by the color of his office, knowingly do any act not authorized in any other manner than is required by law, or illegally use or misapply any money be-longing to the fitate, he shall be deemed guilty of misdemeaner in office, and pon conviction be fined not more than $100 and imprisoned not more than five ears, and be dismissed from office. Exhibit K is the testimony of T. F. Monroe, who was clerk of the committee appointed at the session of 1874 to examine the auditor's books, etc. The committee made no report, but the clerk testifies to the fact that the taxcollectors paid to the auditor, on account of taxes and licenses for 1873, $430,789 95 more than the auditor accounted for in his annual report for that year. He also testifics to the fact that the auditor retained money in his possession ninety days before paying it into the treasury. Exhibit L is the testimony of L. Guichard, who also figures up a large discrepancy between sums paid by collectors and receipts reported by the auditor's exhibit. A statement of Theodore Lepshitz shows that the auditor paid eighteen clerks of committees of the house more than the law allows; he also shows that the difference between the accounts of the house committee on contingent expenses and the auditor's warrants for the same expenditure is $7,070 76. Patriotic Letter From an Ex-Pederal Officer, Indorsing the Action of . the Ex-Confederates of Memphis.

EDITORS APPEAL-I have read with much interest and pleasure the proceedings of the meeting held by the ex-Confederates in your city on Saturday evening, as published in your Sunday issue. The letter of our excellent friend Tomlinson will meet with the hearty approbation of all true, generous Federal soldiers throughout the Union, and the liberal, noble action of the meeting, and admirable comments of the APPRAL are good evidences that the animosities of the war are fast giving way to a more magnanimous and patriotic feeling. In 1872 I took occasion to suggest, through your paper, the propriety of decorating the graves of the dead of both armies without distinction, and again last year through the press of Louisville. It was no new departure for me, for it had been my privilege to advocate such a course, to exhibit E, which is the testimony of Mr. Mooney, who was warrant clerk in the auditor's office, and whose duty it was to draw all warrants; that the writing in the stub of the warrant book with the stub of the warrant book. writing in the stub of the warrant book is not in his handwriting. Another sust to a union of the people in the cerepicious circumstance connected with the issue of these warrants is the fact that they are all dated the same date, and numbered respectively 2259, 2304, 2345, 2386, 2414 and 2444, six in all. The difference between the highest and lowest number is 140 numbers, while both number to be in the north the dead of the two armies lie side by side, each receiving equal care and attention from the government. The papal embassadors leave to-day for a trip to Baltimore and the seminary of Mount St. Marys, Emmetsburg, A Father Shot to Death by His Own Son-

SHELBYVILLE, IND., April 21.-On last Saturday night at St. Paul, some ten miles east of here, an affray occurred between James Mandlove and his sylvania, after a conference with the son David. First words, then stones and clubs passed, when the son, who is a desperate character, and who was under the influence of whisky at the time, drew a revolver and fired three shots, his father's left arm near the shoulder, the left side, between the second and lower rib, from the effects of which after lingering in extreme pain and agony, he died this morning. The son was arrested soon after the shooting, and taken to the county jail at Greenaburg. Intense excitement prevails, and fears are entertained that the son will be taken out and lynched.

DIED.
